

Mano received "Student Presentation Award" at JSAM

A meeting of JSAM (Japanese Society of Agricultural Machinery), Kansai Branch was held on Aug.30-31 at Okayama University. Seven students participated in it from our laboratory and Mr.Mano, a graduate student, Master course received "Student Presentation Award" by a presentation of "Serum vitamin A prediction method for high quality beef production by 2 CCD camera." It is a congratulatory news and the research will be propelled at an accelerated rate by this encouraging award as well as other researches in our laboratory.